

Sharing equally

In the box below draw a picture or write about a time when everything was not shared equally. Why was it a problem?

Now draw a picture or write about a time when everything was shared equally. Why was that better?

Watch

Watch this film where Charlie and her friend Blue go to visit the Gurdwara, the Sikh place of worship.

Sharing food in the Langar

In the Langar everyone sits on the floor and eats the same food. Why does that happen?

Can you think about a meal that would be good to serve in the Langar? Something that everyone can eat. Draw and write about the food you have chosen below.

I have chosen to cook...

This is a good meal for everyone because...

Note for those supporting learning

There are notes designed for teachers in the form of a lesson plan underneath the film. If you are interested these have more information about the film and about Sikhism. They also have other ideas in case you want to learn more about Sikhism together.
